GERMAN AND GERMAN STUDIES (BI-CO)

Department Website: https://www.haverford.edu/german

The Bi-College Department of German draws upon the expertise of the German faculty at both Bryn Mawr and Haverford Colleges to offer a broadly conceived German Studies program, incorporating a variety of courses and major options. The purpose of the major in German is to lay the foundation for a critical understanding of German culture in its contemporary international context and its larger political, social, and intellectual history. To this end, we encourage a thorough and comparative study of the German language and culture through its linguistic and literary history, institutions, political systems, and arts and sciences.

The German program aims, by means of various methodological approaches to the study of another language, to foster critical thinking, expository writing skills, understanding of the diversity of culture(s), and the ability to respond creatively to the challenges posed by cultural difference in an increasingly global world. Course offerings are intended to serve both students with particular interests in German literature and literary theory and criticism, and those interested in studying German and German-speaking cultures from the perspective of communication arts, film, history, history of ideas, history of art and architecture, history of religion, institutions, linguistics, mass media, philosophy, politics, and urban anthropology and folklore.

Learning Goals

The German program aims, through the study of German language, culture, and literature, to foster:

• critical thinking.
• expository writing skills.
• the mastery of critical theories and methodologies, crucial for the analysis of cultural artifacts.
• the ability to respond intellectually and creatively to the challenges posed by cultural difference in an increasingly multicultural and global world.
• a thorough knowledge of German language.

Haverford’s Institutional Learning Goals are available on the President’s website, at http://hav.to/learninggoals.

Curriculum

A thorough knowledge of German is a goal for both major concentrations. The objective of our language instruction is to teach students communicative skills that enable them to function effectively in authentic conditions of language use and to speak and write in idiomatic German. A major component of all German courses is the examination of issues that underlie the cosmopolitanism as well as the specificity and complexity of contemporary German culture. German majors can and are encouraged to take courses in interdisciplinary areas, such as comparative literature, film, gender and sexuality studies, growth and structure of cities, history, history of art, music, philosophy, and political science, where they read works of criticism in these areas in the original German. Courses relating to any aspect of German culture, history, and politics given in other departments can count toward requirements for the major or minor.

Major Requirements

After the completion of the GERM H101-GERM H102 sequence (or its equivalent) the German language and literature concentration normally follows the sequence GERM H201 and/or GERM H202 (or equivalents at Bryn Mawr); GERM B209 or GERM B212, or GERM B213; plus additional courses to complete the 10 units, two of them at the 300 level; and finally one semester of Senior Conference or either an additional 300-level seminar in German or GERM B403 (Supervised Work) for double majors.

A German Studies major normally includes GERM H201 or H202; GERM H223 or GERM B245; one 200- and one 300-level course in German literature; three courses (at least one at the 300 level) in subjects central to aspects of German culture, history, or politics; and one semester of GERM H321 (Advanced Topics in German Cultural Studies). Bryn Mawr equivalents may be substituted. Within each concentration, courses need to be selected so as to achieve a reasonable breadth, but also a degree of disciplinary coherence.

No more than four credits will be awarded for work done beyond the Tri-College Consortium and UPenn, whether abroad or in the U.S.

Senior Project

All of our majors are required to write a senior thesis in German, or—if they are double majors—to produce a thesis in a related discipline that has significant overlap with their work in German. They typically take a 300-level seminar in fall and write a research term paper that often becomes the foundation for their senior project. In the spring semester they take the mandatory GERM H399/GERM B399 Senior Conference consisting of weekly meetings and discussions of thesis proposals and drafts with their advisor(s).

Senior Project Learning Goals
In writing the senior thesis, the student should demonstrate

1. the capacity to conceive a theoretically informed and well designed research project
2. the language skills to research and evaluate primary and secondary materials and to effectively synthesize these, and
3. the analytical and methodological skills to produce an innovative and critically astute thesis.

Senior Project Assessment
The quality of the thesis is evaluated on the basis of the following criteria:

- Originality of topic.
- Mastery of analysis.
- Familiarity with primary and secondary literature.
- Creative application of relevant theoretical discourses.
- Clarity of writing.

Requirements for Honors
Any student whose grade point average in the major at the end of the senior year is 3.8 or higher qualifies for departmental honors. Students who have completed a thesis and whose major grade point average at the end of the senior year is 3.6 or higher, but not 3.8, are eligible to be discussed as candidates for departmental honors. A student in this range of eligibility must be sponsored by at least one faculty member with whom the student has done coursework, and at least one other faculty member must read some of the student’s advanced work and agree on the excellence of the work in order for departmental honors to be awarded. If there is a sharp difference of opinion, additional readers will serve as needed.

Minor Requirements
A minor in German and German Studies consists of six units of work. To earn a minor, students are normally required to take GERM H201 or GERM H202, and five additional units covering a reasonable range of study topics, of which at least one unit is at the 300 level. One upper-level course may be chosen with the approval of the department from the recommended electives for German Studies majors. Bryn Mawr equivalents may be substituted.

No more than four credits will be awarded for work done beyond the Tri-College Consortium and UPenn, whether abroad or in the U.S..

Concentrations and Interdisciplinary Minors
The German department with its cross-disciplinary curriculum is a regular contributor to the Comparative Literature program, Gender and Sexuality Studies, the Cities program, as well as African and Africana Studies.

Study Abroad
We encourage students majoring in German to spend time in German-speaking countries in the course of their undergraduate studies. Possibilities include summer work programs, DAAD (German Academic Exchange) scholarships for summer courses at German universities, and selected junior year abroad programs (Berlin, Freiburg, Vienna).

GERM H215  SURVEY OF LITERATURE IN GERMAN: INTRODUCTION TO POSTWAR LITERATURE  (1.0 Credit)
Simone Schlichting-Artur
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
The seminar is designed to give a broad overview of the various aesthetic trends which have shaped contemporary German-speaking literature. Focusing on representative works—including prose, drama, and poetry—this course will retrace and engage with the historical role of literature in the German speaking world over time, and access the importance of German literature in the current era of globalization and mass communication.

GERM H220B  GERMAN COLONIAL HISTORY IN AFRICA & AFRO-GERMANS/EUROPEANS  (1.0 Credit)
Imke Brust
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
This course will provide a historical overview of German colonial history in Africa, and critically engage with its origins, processes, and outcomes. We will first scrutinize colonial efforts by individual German states before the first unification of Germany in 1871, and then investigate the colonialism of Imperial Germany. In particular, we will focus on the time after the 1884/1885 Berlin Conference that sought to regulate the so-called “Scramble for Africa”. In addition, we will also familiarize ourselves with the presence of Afro-Germans and Afro-Europeans, and how their perception, reception, and representation changed over time. Furthermore, we will briefly touch on contemporary relations between Germany / Europe and Africa. Our discussions will explore issues of race and gender and draw on a variety of different materials such as historical, political, economic, medical, sociological, and literary texts and visual media.

GERM H223  VISUALIZING NATIONS: AFRICA AND EUROPE  (1.0 Credit)
Imke Brust
Division: Humanities
This course will explore ideas of nation-building in regard to the transnational relations between Europe and Africa. We will discuss African and European experiences of nation-creation to distinguish between exclusionary and inclusionary visions of nation states, and focus in particular on literary texts from Great Britain, Germany, and France in comparison with literary texts from Nigeria, South Africa, and Algeria.

GERM H224  GERMANY/BERLIN FROM A TRANSNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE (1.0 Credit)
Imke Brust

Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World

This course focuses primarily on the ways in which Germany/Berlin has influenced the visual imagination of American and other foreign artists, as well as a German immigrant artists, and Germans in the diaspora. While Germany without doubt has profoundly affected other countries worldwide, Germany and in particular the city of Berlin have also been shaped significantly by foreign influences, most recently during the recent refugee crisis in Europe. This course explores a variety of different visual media from film to the creation of museums. Taught in English with an extra session in German. Crosslisted: German, Comparative Literature, Visual Studies

GERM B212 MARX, NIETZSCHE, FREUD, AND THE RHETORIC OF MODERNITY (1.0 Credit)
Azade Seyhan
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course examines selected writings by Marx, Nietzsche, and Freud as pre-texts for a critique of cultural reason and underlines their contribution to questions of language, representation, history, ethics, and art. These three visionaries of modernity have translated the abstract metaphysics of “the history of the subject” into a concrete analysis of human experience. Their work has been a major influence on the Frankfurt School of critical theory and has also led to a revolutionary shift in the understanding and writing of history and literature.
now associated with the work of modern French philosophers Jacques Derrida, Michel Foucault, Julia Kristeva, and Jacques Lacan. Our readings will, therefore, also include short selections from these philosophers in order to analyze the contested history of modernity and its intellectual and moral consequences. Special attention will be paid to the relation between rhetoric and philosophy and the narrative forms of “the philosophical discourse(s) of modernity” (e.g., sermon and myth in Marx; aphorism and oratory in Nietzsche, myth, fairy tale, case history in Freud). Course is taught in English. One additional hour will be added for those students wanting German credit. Course counts toward Philosophy.

GERM B231 CULTURAL PROFILES IN MODERN EXILE (1.0 Credit)
Azade Seyhan
Division: Humanities
