LATIN AMERICAN, IBERIAN, AND LATINX STUDIES

Department Website:
https://www.haverford.edu/lails

The Latin American, Iberian, and Latinx Studies Concentration is an interdisciplinary program for students majoring in a related discipline who wish to undertake a comprehensive study of the cultures of Spanish America, Brazil, or the Iberian Peninsula (Spain and Portugal).

Students supplement a major in one of the cooperating departments (e.g., history, history of art, religion, political science, anthropology, economics, comparative literature, linguistics or Spanish) with courses that focus on Latin American, Iberian, and US-Latinx issues and themes.

Learning Goals
• Students will develop a substantial understanding of the diverse people, cultures and histories of the Latin American and Iberian worlds, including US-Latinx’s.
• Students will enhance their studies within established majors through a coordinated multi- and interdisciplinary focus on specific regions, cultural zones and languages.

Haverford’s Institutional Learning Goals are available on the President’s website, at http://hav.to/learninggoals.

Concentration Requirements
Requirements for the concentration (six courses and one essay):
• Concentrators must demonstrate competence in Spanish to be achieved no later than the junior year, demonstrated by the completion of at least one course in Spanish at the 200 level or above.
• SPAN H240 at Haverford, or GNST B245 at Bryn Mawr. One of these two courses will be taught every year, usually in spring, alternating between Haverford and Bryn Mawr.
• At least two, and no more than three, courses must be completed in the departmental major.
• At least two other courses in Latin American or Iberian Studies, representing at least two departments outside of the major. These courses are to be chosen from the offerings listed under the concentration in the Catalog or the Course Guide. Students should consult with their advisors as to which courses are most appropriate for their major and special interests: some apply more to Latin America, some to the Iberian Peninsula and others to the United States. Students may have other courses approved to fulfill this requirement if they can demonstrate their pertinence to the concentration. The concentration coordinator will approve courses not listed in the Catalog or Course Guide on a case-by-case basis. These can include courses offered at Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore, the University of Pennsylvania, or in approved study abroad programs.
• One of the courses fulfilling the third or fourth bullet point must be at the 300 level.
• A long paper (at least 20 pages) on Latin America, the Iberian Peninsula, or the Latinx experience in the United States to be completed no later than the first semester of the senior year, as part of the work for a course in the student’s major or the concentration. Students must submit in advance a proposal for the paper topic, accompanied by a bibliography, for the concentration coordinator’s approval. Although the topic is open and should reflect the student’s interests in a particular discipline, the paper should demonstrate the student’s ability to discuss cogently the history, literature, social, or political thought of Latin America or Spain as it applies to the individual student’s research project. The concentration coordinator may on a case-by-case basis approve creative works, such as films and other types of art requiring work comparable to a long paper, to fulfill this requirement.
• A 2-page reflection on how the courses students took for the LIALS concentration helped them understand the topic of research, and/or other specific issues in Latin America and Spain more deeply.
• A brief presentation of the project and reflection to be scheduled at the end of the Spring semester.
• No more than two credits towards the concentration will be awarded for work done beyond the Tri-Co, whether abroad or in the U.S.

Affiliated Programs
Accelerated Degree Program with the Center for Latin American Studies at Georgetown University
Haverford has been invited to join other distinguished colleges and universities in an agreement with the Center for Latin American at Georgetown University to participate in a five-year joint degree program. The cooperative agreement allows undergraduate concentrators in Latin American, Iberian and Latino Studies to pursue an accelerated course of study in a graduate degree.

The program offers the highest qualified applicants the opportunity to count four courses from their undergraduate study toward the M.A. program in Latin American Studies at Georgetown University, enabling them to complete the degree in two semesters and one summer.

The five-year B.A.-M.A. program is designed for those students who demonstrate excellence at the undergraduate level. Qualified undergraduates must maintain a minimum GPA of 3.5, declare an interest in the Accelerated Degree Program during their junior year, and participate in the Center’s summer study abroad program. During the senior year, candidates apply through the normal Georgetown M.A. application cycle. If accepted into the M.A. program, students may transfer up to four courses (two from the CLAS summer study program in Mexico or Chile and two advanced courses from the undergraduate institution) to be applied to the M.A. All M.A. prerequisites must be completed during the student’s undergraduate education, and students must have concentrated in Latin American Studies at the undergraduate level.

For more detailed information, consult with the LAILS coordinator or visit the Georgetown Center for Latin American Studies website: https://grad.georgetown.edu/latin-american-studies/.

Courses
Africana Studies Courses
AFST H308 BLACKNESS IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Lina Martinez Hernandez
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
This course offers a historical and cultural approach to blackness in Latin America. Understood as an epistemological discourse and as embodied practices, blackness has been at the center of Latin American identity since colonial times. Taught in Spanish. Prerequisite(s): 200 level Spanish course

Comparative Literature Courses
COML H203 WRITING THE JEWISH TRAJECTORIES IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Ariana Huberman
Division: Humanities
The course proposes the study of Latin American Jewish literature focusing on narrative, essay, and poetry of the Twentieth and Twenty-First centuries. It pays close attention to themes, registers, and cultural contexts relevant to the Jewish experience in Latin America. What is Jewish about this literature? Where do these texts cross paths, or not, with other migratory and minority experiences? The texts studied question identity and Otherness, and explore constructions of memory while examining issues of gender, assimilation, transculturation, migration, and exile in relation to the Jewish Diaspora in the Americas. This course is conducted in Spanish. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature
Prerequisite(s): SPAN 102, placement, or instructor consent

COML H210 SPANISH AND SPANISH AMERICAN FILM STUDIES (1.0 Credit)
Division: Humanities
Exploration of Latin American film. The course will discuss approximately one movie per week. The class will focus on the analysis of cinematic discourses as well as the films’ cultural and historic background. The course will also provide advanced language training with particular emphasis in refining oral and writing skills. This course is conducted in Spanish. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature
Prerequisite(s): SPAN 102, or placement, or instructor consent

COML H214 WRITING THE NATION: 19TH-CENTURY LITERATURE IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Ariana Huberman
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
An examination of seminal literary texts written in Latin America in the nineteenth century. Novels, essays, travelogues, short stories, miscellaneous texts, and poetry will be analyzed and placed in the context of the process of nation-building that took place after Independence from Spain. A goal of the course will be to establish and define the nexus between the textual and ideological formations of 19th-century writings in Latin America and their counterparts in the 20th-century. The course fulfills the “pre-1898” requirement. This course is conducted in Spanish. Cross-listed: Spanish, Comparative Literature. Prerequisite(s): SPAN 102, placement, or instructor consent. (Offered: Spring 2024)

COML H231 CARIBE QUEER: SEXUALITIES AND NARRATIVES FROM THE HISPANIC CARIBBEAN (1.0 Credit)
Lina Martinez Hernandez
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
The course will look at different narrative and artistic productions regarding alternative sexualities in the Hispanic Caribbean. We will take as a point of departure the Cuban revolution and move to the present. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature Prerequisite(s): SPAN H102 or 200-300 level in the placement test (Offered: Spring 2024)

COML H250 WORDS AND MUSIC, QUIXOTIC NARRATIVES (1.0 Credit)
Luis Rodriguez-Rincon, Richard Freedman
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course will be devoted to the amazing vocal music of the European Renaissance, exploring the ways in which literary and musical modes of interpretation repeatedly informed each other during this period. How do literary readings of texts differ from musical ones? How did Renaissance musicians bring their own habits as readers to musical and verbal texts they sang and played? Our primary texts will be the works themselves: French chansons, Italian madrigals, Latin motets, and solo songs of the fifteenth through early seventeenth centuries. We will study poetry by Petrarch, Tasso, Christine de Pizan, Ronsard as interpreted by composers like Guillaume Dufay, Josquin Desprez, Cipriano de Rore, Orlandus Lassus, Luca Marenzio, Claudio Monteverdi (and plenty of others, too). Our discussions will be both historical (exploring the values and artistic ideals at work in the European Renaissance) and critical (investigating the ways of knowing or relating words and music) of Miguel de Cervantes’ famous novel, El ingenioso hidalgo don Quijote de la Mancha. Course readings and discussion will be in English with the option of reading the novel in Spanish and participating in a Spanish-language discussion group for interested students. The course will focus on analyzing the novel’s self-reflexivity and narrative ambiguity as well as its depiction of gender, race, and class. We will also study the legacy of Cervantes’ novel and its influence on subsequent fiction, philosophy, music, art and film. This course fulfills the “pre 1898” requirement. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature.

COML H253 HISPANIC CARIBBEAN MIGRATION TALES (1.0 Credit)
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
Students will learn about different Hispanic Caribbean migratory experiences through a selection of short stories, novels, memoirs, and essays, as well as in film, and performative production. The tales featured in this course will consider how gender and sexuality shape migration experiences. The texts that will be analyzed are mostly originally written in Spanish. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature Prerequisite(s): SPAN H102 or 200-300 level in the placement test (Offered: Spring 2024)

COML H322 POLITICS OF MEMORY IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Aurelia Gómez De Unamuno
Division: Humanities
This course explores the issue of memory, the narration of political violence and the tension between truth and fiction. A selection of documents, visual archives and documentary films are compared with literary genres including testimonies memories, diaries, poetry, and fiction writing. This course also compares the coup and dictatorship of Pinochet with the repression of the student movement of ‘68 and the guerrilla warfare in Mexico. This course is conducted in Spanish. Cross-listed: Spanish, Comparative Literature, PJHR (Offered: Spring 2024)

COML H327 TRAVEL NARRATIVES IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Ariana Huberman
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course examines the ideas and impact of European Travel writers in Latin America and the Caribbean. We will discuss the imprint travel writers have left on the literature of Latin America from the seventeenth century to the present. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature

COML H336 HUMANIMALS IN SPANISH LITERATURE AND CULTURE FROM PREHISTORY TO THE EARLY MODERN PERIOD (1.0 Credit)
Luis Rodriguez-Rincon
Division: Humanities
Humans are animals and yet most people consider animals to be something other than humans. This course sets out to understand from a specifically Iberian perspective how humans have come to define themselves in relation to animals and vice versa how animals have come to be defined in relation to humans. Readings in this course will approach animals as both living and literary figures with an emphasis on the medieval and early modern periods as well as key theories in Animal Studies. Crosslisted: COML. Pre-requisite(s): A 200 level-course; or permission of the instructor. Lottery Preference: Spanish majors; Spanish minors; Comparative Literature majors; LAILS concentrators.
HIST H309 KNOWLEDGE, POWER, AND THE PRODUCTION OF HISTORY IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)
Marlen Rosas
Division: Social Science
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
This course examines the revolutionary politics, emancipatory pedagogies, and struggles for liberation espoused by grassroots intellectuals, students, and working-class, peasant and indigenous activists in modern Latin America. We will consider questions of intellectual and political agency, as well as the political power of literacy, education, memories, and archives in the face of imperial threats throughout history.

HIST H314 TOPICS IN GLOBAL LATIN AMERICAN HISTORY: LAND AND THE LEFT IN THE AMERICAS (1.0 Credit)
Marlen Rosas
Division: Social Science
Domain(s): B: Analysis of the Social World
This course traces the debates over land distribution and agrarian reform that have been at the forefront of modern political strife and Indigenous activism in the Americas. We will explore how Latin America’s rural poor have supported socialism and environmentalism as alternatives to capitalist extraction, as a strategy to break colonial vestiges, and as an anti-imperialist ideology. The course focuses on various case studies to address the meaning of socialism in largely agrarian societies, how states have implemented nationalist policies to redistribute land, and how new social movements approached land and community rights in ways that challenged the status quo. This class requires every student’s vocal participation in discussions. Students will also complete historical research papers on a topic of their choice, related to the course themes. Lottery Preference: History Majors; Latin American Studies concentrators; Seniors/Juniors
(Offered: Spring 2024)

HIST H317 TOPICS IN LATIN AMERICAN HISTORY: RELIGION, POWER, AND POLITICS IN LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN (1.0 Credit)
James Krippner
Division: Social Science
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
The course introduces students to basic concepts of (critical) sociolinguistics with a focus on Spanish in the US. It examines the history and politics of Spanish in the US, the relationship of language to Latinx identities, and how language ideologies and policies reflect and shape societal views of Spanish and its speakers (and contribute to discrimination and social injustices). Course taught in Spanish.
Prerequisite(s): Course at the 200-level in Spanish or Linguistics
(Offered: Fall 2023)

Independent College Programs Courses
ICPR H271 COMPARATIVE AND TRANSNATIONAL STUDIES: FROM KUALA LUMPUR TO KANSAS CITY (1.0 Credit)
Thomas Donahue
Division: Social Science
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
How can comparative lenses on the one hand, and transnational lenses, on the other, make sense of a globalizing world and its workings? This course uses both lenses to understand the ways we live now. Also, the ideas and practices that shaped them. So we study, for example, how modernity was built by the Black Atlantic, by creolizing, and by different diasporas and their homelands. And how constitutionalisms in Spanish America and U. S. states resemble each other. Or how the Arab world and East Asia shared debates over dealing with Eurocentrism.
(Offered: Spring 2024)

Linguistics Courses
LING H214 SPANISH IN THE US: LANGUAGE, IDENTITY AND POLITICS (1.0 Credit)
Ana López-Sánchez
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
The course introduces students to basic concepts of (critical) sociolinguistics with a focus on Spanish in the US. It examines the history and politics of Spanish in the US, the relationship of language to Latinx identities, and how language ideologies and policies reflect and shape societal views of Spanish and its speakers (and contribute to discrimination and social injustices). Course taught in Spanish.
Prerequisite(s): Course at the 200-level in Spanish or Linguistics
(Offered: Fall 2023)

LING H215 THE STRUCTURE OF COLONIAL VALLEY ZAPOTEC (1.0 Credit)
Brook Lillehaugen
Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
A detailed examination of the grammar of Colonial Valley Zapotec, an indigenous language of Oaxaca, Mexico. Focus on hands-on research, morphological analysis, and translation of archival documents.
Prerequisite(s): LING 113; and one of the following: LING 101, 114, 115, or instructor consent
Music Courses

MUSC H140  MUSICAL CULTURES OF THE WORLD: AN ETHNOMUSICOLOGICAL JOURNEY  (1.0 Credit)

Edwin Porras

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)

This course provides an overview of the world's musical traditions, with selected case studies from each of ten regions: Oceania, South Asia, East Asia, Southeast Asia, the Middle East, North America, Europe, Africa, the Caribbean, and Latin America. POLS H208  POLITICAL THOUGHT IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH: THE CASE OF LATIN AMERICA  (1.0 Credit)

Paulina Ochoa Espejo

Division: Social Science
Domain(s): B: Analysis of the Social World

What impact did the conquest and colonization of the Americas have on modern political thought? How did European thinkers describe Indigenous peoples, and how did they deploy the figure of “the native” in their works? In this course, we will take a critical approach to canonical thinkers such Hobbes, Locke, and Rousseau by focusing on how they approached issues of colonialism and Indigeneity. Drawing on insights from Indigenous, Black, and postcolonial theory we will explore how prominent issues in modern political thought (including theories of freedom, the social contract, natural law, progress, and individual rights) look different from vantage points outside of Europe. We will have a particular emphasis on works from and about Latin America. The course is broken up into three major sections. First, we begin with a selection of works that provide a framework for thinking about colonialism, race, and modernity. We then turn to a selection of canonical works in modern political thought, each paired with a contemporary piece of analysis. Finally, we end with a series of broader thematic readings on capitalism, liberalism, sovereignty, and modernity.

POLS H271 COMPARATIVE AND TRANSNATIONAL STUDIES: FROM KUALA LUMPUR TO KANSAS CITY (1.0 Credit)

SPAN H230 INTRODUCTION TO IBERIAN STUDIES: MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN LITERATURE AND CULTURE (1.0 Credit)
Luis Rodriguez-Rincon, Staff
DIVISION: Humanities
DOMAIN(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course surveys over a thousand years of literary, cultural, and political history in the Iberian Peninsula. In the context of European and world history, course readings will span from the 5th century CE to roughly 1700, that is to say, from the final dissolution of the Roman Empire through the middle ages and ending with the early modern period and the first centuries of Iberian colonization in the Americas. While most readings will be in Castilian (i.e. Spanish), the Arabic and Hebrew writers that called the Iberian Peninsula home from 711 CE to 1492 as well as early Gallego-Portuguese writers will likewise be discussed. These non-Castilian voices represent a linguistic, cultural, and religious diversity at odds with the commonplace notion of Spain as an exclusively Spanish-speaking and Catholic monarchy. Topics of discussion will include the politics of history, love and epic poetry, writing the self, and the changing role of women in Iberian society. This course is conducted in Spanish.

OFFERED: Spring 2024

SPAN H231 CARIBE QUEER: SEXUALITIES AND NARRATIVES FROM THE HISPANIC CARIBBEAN (1.0 Credit)
Lina Martinez Hernandez
DIVISION: Humanities

SPAN H240 LATIN AMERICAN AND IBERIAN CULTURE AND CIVILIZATION (1.0 Credit)
Roberto Castillo Sandoval
DIVISION: Humanities
DOMAIN(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
An interdisciplinary exploration of Latin America and Spain. Topics will include imperial expansion, colonialism, independence, national and cultural identities, and revolution. This course is designed to serve as the introduction to the Concentration in Latin American and Iberian Studies. Course taught in English. Students who wish to obtain Spanish credit are expected to read Spanish language texts in the original and write all assignments in the language.

SPAN H250 QUIXOTIC NARRATIVES (1.0 Credit)

Luis Rodriguez-Rincon

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course proposes a bilingual reading of Miguel de Cervantes’ famous novel, El ingenioso hidalgo don Quijote de la Mancha. Course readings and discussion will be in English with the option of reading the novel in Spanish and participating in a Spanish-language discussion group for interested students. The course will focus on analyzing the novel’s self-reflexivity and narrative ambiguity as well as its depiction of gender, race, and class. We will also study the legacy of Cervantes’ novel and its influence on subsequent fiction, philosophy, music, art and film. This course fulfills the “pre 1898” requirement. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature.

SPAN H253 HISPANIC CARIBBEAN MIGRATION TALES (1.0 Credit)

Staff

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
Students will learn about different Hispanic Caribbean migratory experiences through a selection of short stories, novels, memoirs, and essays, as well as in film, and performative production. The tales featured in this course will consider how gender and sexuality shape migration experiences. The texts that will be analyzed are mostly originally written in Spanish. Crosslisted: Spanish, Comparative Literature
Prerequisite(s): SPAN H102 or 200-300 level in the placement test
(Offered: Spring 2024)

SPAN H270 ANIMAL AND VEGETAL PLOTS IN LATIN AMERICAN LITERATURE (1.0 Credit)

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts)
This course explores the plots and threads between plants, animals, and humans in Latin American literature in order to understanding the shifting notions of race, gender, and ethnicity in the region. Drawing from 20th century and 21st century literary texts, films, and a visit to the Haverford Arboretum, the course analyzes how human and non-human entities are able to challenge binary constructions while creating spaces for emerging alternative communities. Pre-requisite(s): SPAN 102, placement at the 200 level, or instructor's consent
Lottery Preference: Majors and minors; LAILS concentrators

SPAN H273 THE INVENTION OF PABLO NERUDA: POETICS AND POLITICS (1.0 Credit)

Roberto Castillo Sandoval

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
This course deals with the principal works of Pablo Neruda’s long career as a poet. Close readings of his major poems will be accompanied by an examination of the criticism and reception of Neruda’s poetry at different stages of his trajectory. Special attention will be paid to the creation and elaboration of Neruda’s image as a poet, cultural icon, and political figure in Chile and in the Spanish-speaking world. This course is conducted in Spanish. Prerequisite(s): SPAN 102, placement, or instructor consent
(Offered: Spring 2024)

SPAN H307 CREATIVE FICTION AND NON-FICTION WRITING WORKSHOP (1.0 Credit)

Roberto Castillo Sandoval

Division: Humanities
Domain(s): A: Meaning, Interpretation (Texts); B: Analysis of the Social World
A fiction- and creative nonfiction-writing workshop for students with advanced Spanish writing skills. The class is conducted as a combination seminar and workshop, with time devoted to discussion of work by established authors and by students. The course will focus on the development of essential elements of craft and technique in fiction and non-fiction writing (point of view, voice, dialogue, narrative and rhetorical structure, etc.) We will focus more on how fiction and non-fiction stories work rather than on what they mean. This writerly perspective can be useful for reconsidering and judging pieces of writing long accepted as “great,” as well as a practical method for developing individual styles. Short fiction, crónicas, personal essays, travel narratives, and memoirs are some of the forms we will work on. At the end of the semester, each student will produce a dossier with four edited, full-length pieces of original writing, consisting of a combination of fiction and non-fiction work. Previous experience in creative writing is recommended, although it is not necessary. Prerequisite(s): At least one 300-level course in Spanish, or instructor consent
(Offered: Fall 2023)

SPAN H308 BLACKNESS IN LATIN AMERICA (1.0 Credit)

Staff
This course offers a historical and cultural approach to blackness in Latin America. Understood as an epistemological discourse and as embodied practices, blackness has been at the center of Latin American identity since colonial times. Taught in Spanish. Prerequisite(s): 200 level Spanish course (Offered: Spring 2024)

SPAN H314 SPANISH IN THE US: LANGUAGE, IDENTITY AND POLITICS (1.0 Credit)
Ana López-Sánchez
